

April 8, 1993

LB 823

programs and decide what role they need to play.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Well, that's what I am afraid of, and, of course, then there would be more money in addition to these above as demanded. A foreign office...

SENATOR WESELY: Right.

SENATOR PIRSCH: ...would, of course, add a lot more. I don't know whether to support this at this time. It is like being against motherhood and apple pie.

SENATOR WESELY: You don't want to be against it.

SENATOR PIRSCH: We want to encourage trade and I understand what you are trying to do. I am just not sure that this is the answer. Thank you.

SPEAKER BAACK: Thank you, Senator Pirsch. Senator Warner.

SENATOR WARNER: My questions are somewhat along the same line, at some point Senator Wesely might comment, I didn't understand why there is not an A bill based on the fiscal note, and I assume that two years from now...I assume if there is no A bill, the Appropriation Committee can assume a year from now, that there is no intent to fund this activity for at least two years, because that is what an A bill is supposed to do, but we also have, as has been mentioned, we've got this Midwest Grain Compact that the Legislature is involved in that, in my opinion, has established some markets that previously didn't exist; the grain checkoffs. It would seem to me that some kind of better coordination of activity needs to be established than what, on the surface at least, would appear to be here, and I don't have a suggestion, but I would hate to start another segment of promotion, at least in the agricultural area, that would tend to compete or duplicate or develop turf battles with the areas that we already have. So with that comment, I would perhaps vote to advance the bill today, but I'd be hesitant to enact it without some of those things resolved.

SPEAKER BAACK: Thanks, Senator Warner. Senator Vrtiska.

SENATOR VRTISKA: Mr. Speaker and members of the body, I think we are going to love this bill to death, and it probably isn't going to get anywhere, but I do have a question to Senator